

The above is the statement alleged to have been made by Professor A. C. Miller head of the economics department at the University because of the failure of his class to satisfactorily answer a question which he propounded. He also asserted that he would never again teach a class of undergraduates in economics.

The lecturing which the savant gave the men and women of this class created a sensation. Professor Miller came from a prominent economic background and was well known in the West.

When it went down a not a Russian student would put an American student to shame in his knowledge of economics. The West is so far behind that we are not even living in the twentieth century. We are so far behind that we like some big game do not know that Darwin had fifty years ago.

Even a freshman entering an Eastern university would know more about the study of economics than an student of a Western university. In fact Western about money till some time after the franchise was passed. They all declared that they would have voted for the franchise anyhow, believing it to be a public necessity and knowing that public sentiment demanded it.

TWO BREAKS IN CHAIN OF PROOF.

There are two breaks in the chain of proof outlined by Mr. Heney. Wilson denies the promise alleged to have been given Lonergan, which promise is the vital essential of the crime charged. It has not been shown that Ford paid the alleged bribe money to Ruef or that he had any understanding with the boss relative to the passage of the franchise. Ruef's failure to testify leaves a big gap in the links connecting Ford with the promise alleged to have been given Lonergan by Wilson. It has not been proved that the money given the Supervisors by Gallagher came from Ford or even the United Railroads. There is only Gallagher's word for it that it came from Ruef.

The defense contends that the payment of the money was itself evidence of a corrupt bargain, and that the payments in currency sufficiently indicates whence the money came. It is also insisted that the payment of money to Ruef is proof of criminal intent. It is in evidence, however, that Ruef went on the payroll of nearly every public service corporation in the city soon after the first election of Schmitz, and pushed the Home Telephone franchise through while drawing $1200 a month salary from the Pacific States Company.

The defense claims that no bribery or promise of bribery has been conclusively shown, and that no evidence has been produced to connect Ford with the money Gallagher gave his colleagues or the alleged promise given Lonergan by Wilson, which is denied by the latter.

FIST FIGHT IS NARROWLY PREVENTED.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Fists were clenched in the morning session of the Ford bribery trial before Judge Lawrence. Shouting and wildly protesting Heney poured out his charges against the defense and Louis E. Byington, almost as excited as the prosecutor, shook back his answers. Earl Rogers came involved and for a while it was feared that he would engage the prosecution in a hand-to-hand struggle. Byington, however, edged along the Los Angeles attorney and prepared to bring hostilities to a close. Bailiff Connolly also edged near the red-faced assistant district attorney and peace was maintained, although the words were continued.

The row began early in the morning session. The defense moved that large sections of the testimony of all the bidders be struck out of the record. Judge Lawrence refused the motion, claiming that it was hearsay conversation and was immaterial and irrelevant. This developed an argument which lasted throughout the morning session, the entire time being consumed in the discussion of the admissibility of the evidence.

HENEY ADMITS HE MADE A MISTAKE.

If the court agrees to the demands of the defense, the testimony taken will be struck from the records. Heney admitted that he had made a mistake in asking Gallagher to relate the conversation he had with Lonergan. Heney claimed that he had asked for this inadvertently and that he had been so filled with the idea of the conspiracy and the payment of money that he had unwittingly asked for the conversation.

At one point in the long and dreary discussion Heney said he had never used the term conspiracy. The court told him that the conspiracy could be inferred from the opening statement.

When court adjourned for the morning, Judge Lawrence announced that he would reserve his ruling and would hear further argument on the matter.

Stanley Moore conducted the case for the defense throughout the morning. Heney paid a court reporter by the name of Young Moore, who after a short dispute with Moore, to whom he frankly said he had seldom seen a lawyer conduct a case or portion of a case in better style than he, more or less.

CHARGES THAT THE COURT WAS TRICKED.

The row between Heney, Byington and Rogers came to a head when Heney charged the defense with tricking and defrauding the court. Byington replied that if there was any tricking or fraud used it was on the part of the prosecution. Rogers interrupted Heney's statement and the two men after stating that he did not know of any tricking or fraud, Rogers was the only one who was not, although his silence was interpreted as an admission.

The run in between the attorneys, however, did not prevent the court from holding that the defense had tricked and defrauded the court. The court held that the defense had tricked and defrauded the court by asking the witness to go into the details of the conversation between Gallagher and Lonergan, which was not the question at issue. The court held that the defense had tricked and defrauded the court by asking the witness to go into the details of the conversation between Gallagher and Lonergan, which was not the question at issue.

OBJECTS TO TALK OF RUEF AND GALLAGHER.

An effort was made to strike out the conversation between Gallagher and Ruef, but it was refused. The court held that the conversation was relevant to the issue. The court held that the conversation was relevant to the issue. The court held that the conversation was relevant to the issue.

with members of the board was also attacked.

The alleged receipt of money by these witnesses was also objected to. An alleged conversation between Gallagher and Kelly was also objected to. The statement of Walsh that he had received money from Gallagher was the substance of the next objection. Former Supervisor Nicholas, who stated that he received the "first payment" was included in the motion, as was also Boodler Phillips, who testified to an alleged conversation with Gallagher over the trolley franchise and the receipt of money.

Dr. Boston's statement that he had received money from Gallagher was included in the next motion.

BOODLER WILSON'S TESTIMONY ATTACKED.

Furey's testimony relating to an alleged conversation with Gallagher over the trolley permit was denounced by Stanley Moore. Wilson's statement regarding general rumors in the board regarding money to be paid for the trolley franchise passing was included in the next motion. The testimony of Manklock, Sanderson and McGeehin was attacked on the ground of irrelevancy and hearsay.

Stanley Moore also moved that the testimony of the mint officials be stricken out, and all conversation regarding the payment of the alleged bribe money. The reading of the objection was carried on in a monotonous tone, and the evident impatience of the jury attracted comment. The even voice of Moore went on and on, and many heads in the audience nodded.

"We submit the motion," finally said Moore.

"Let me hear from the prosecution," said Judge Lawrence.

Heney replied that it was difficult to reply to the motion at hand. He stated that he did not thoroughly understand the objection and young Moore went on to explain that the testimony was irrelevant and immaterial.

A. A. Moore stated that the objection also included the fact that no connection with the defendant had been shown. Heney said that if such were the case he would argue it out. The older Moore finally stated that as the "young gentleman" (meaning his son), had given the case more thought than he, he would withdraw his statement and let the first objection stand.

HENEY FIGHTS AGAINST MOTION.

Heney sprang to his feet.

"When the motion to strike out the testimony is made, this jury should be instructed to acquit; that there is not sufficient testimony here to convict," said Heney. "The object of the law is to give the trial court a chance to place the matter before the jury. It was never intended by the prosecution that we be entitled to the conversations which occurred at times between the supervisors. What we did contend, and what the court understood by sustaining the objections, was that the facts were to be admitted."

"All I want," continued Heney, "is for this court to have a fair chance in this matter."

Stanley Moore said the objections were made at the outset. Heney said the court had stated that he was opposed to blanket objections, and that it would be advisable to have specific objections because the court, under the operation of ominous objections might inadvertently overstep the bounds of evidence.

Rogers read from the transcript to the effect that Heney had put questions to Gallagher which he, Rogers, had objected to.

Heney declared that all the conversations prior to June 11 were admissible and he declared that then and now he claimed were legal because it showed an understanding among co-conspirators.

Red faced and shouting, Heney read pages and pages of the evidence and, not contented that the evidence tended to prove the conspiracy charge, he constantly referred to the ruling of the court, stating that the court must have known the prosecution was right.

"You seem to think his honor had to do just as you wanted him to do," said Byington.

"His honor did just as he read the law, and it is an outrage to insult the court in this manner," shouted the prosecutor in a voice which reached through the great auditorium.

"There was no insult to his honor, but you appear to think what you say must be right," replied Byington, springing to his feet and his voice growing loud to the now infuriated prosecutor, who was wildly waving his arms and apparently in two minds as to whether or not to attack the defense.

BYINGTON AND HENEY AT WAR.

"I don't propose to stand quietly by and see the court tricked and defrauded," yelled Heney.

"Do you mean to insinuate that we have tricked the court?" yelled Byington, now thoroughly aroused by the belittling manner of the prosecutor.

Rogers then rose and said in a quiet but menacing manner:

"I would like to ask Mr. Heney if he means that I have attempted to defraud the court."

"I was replying to Mr. Byington," said Heney, "and if he has included you in his remarks, I say yes."

Bailiff Ryan edged between the two men as all in the courtroom believed a fist fight imminent.

"I think," said Rogers, "I have been fair and that I have acted in a gentlemanly way in the conducting of this case. I don't like what has been said, and I would like Mr. Heney to take that back. I would like to have him take it back."

"I repeat that I have not said that anyone has attempted to defraud the court, but that I was referring to what Mr. Byington said, and that if he included you I will say yes."

"I have no desire to stand here and be insulted and have the court insulted in this manner."

listed. The jury was then excused for the recess, and Stanley Moore took up the argument for the defense.

Judge Lawrence interrupted him, stating that he endeavored to keep out all conversation and that as the defense had exhibited a desire to minimize objections to save time the court had co-operated with them.

Continuing, the court delivered a lengthy statement regarding his position, stating that it had been his aim to give the defense every opportunity to make the most thorough cross-examination of the supervisors who were testifying under an immunity contract. Concluding, the judge said it had ever been his aim to keep out certain testimony relating to conversations after June 11, 1906.

DEMOCRATS KEEP PATRONAGE OFFICES.

to say nothing of his patronage for the hungry heeled who do the shouting and some of the vote-getting.

The Democratic machine modestly grabbed also the sheriff, the best patronage office in the town and a most convenient official in the selection of juries. Then the coroner went into the Democratic maw with the consent of the fusing leaguers. A place had to be found for Dr. Leland since the Laborites refused to swallow him as mayor.

STRING OF PLACES.

The recorder, with his big string of places for the small fry, fell into the Democratic lap and Tom Hickey received as his share of the spoils the public administrator. As attorney for the public administrator Hickey dreams of wealth. All of this was for the fellows who keep the Democratic machine going. The machine itself took the supervisors, the prizes of the entire contest. In outline this is the scheme of fusion that hopes to govern San Francisco for two years. It doesn't recommend itself very highly to the theorists on civic moralities, but it is practical politics in its most practical sense.

The graft prosecution as a matter of necessity wants Taylor and as a matter of choice, in which its very existence is involved, demands Langdon. But it emphatically does not want the non-partisan, Democratic, fusion-Board of Supervisors and yesterday and today it is hustling to offset the distinct advantage which the Democrats and the Good Government League have gained.

The scheme by which the graft prosecutors hope to defeat the Democratic machine nominees for supervisors is to force the Republicans and the Laborites into a fusion on a single board of city fathers, thus presenting a solid and not a divided front to the enemy. While such a result is probable it is not altogether as easy as it appears.

Ryan and McCarthy are not as good friends as they were and the strain is being drawn to a further tension by the efforts of the Democrats to induce the Laborites to endorse Hynes for public administrator. Ryan has a very close lawyer friend whose interests he is watching in this matter and he is nursing the Labor endorsement himself. Every endeavor is being made, however, to force a Republican-Labor fusion board. If this is done the Democrats will find it convenient to save their shots until after the ballots are counted on election day.

MCCARTHY'S FIGHT.

In his majority contest McCarthy has made arrangements to import at least one prominent national labor unionist to assist him in his campaign. The Laborites are fixed in their determination to make the issue this year prominently one between capital and labor. The defection of Eagan and Casey has made this necessary and every endeavor is to be made to heal the sores in the party and unite it under the McCarthy banner. The Laborites figure that as election day approaches whatever disaffection there may be in their ranks will disappear and that political rows which are now a disturbance among them will give way to a purpose distinctly industrial. It is recalled that Schmitz in his first campaign was looked upon as a joke, but that a week before election a wave of support swept toward him, lifting him into the mayor's chair. This year, it is argued, the issue that gave victory to him is far more pronounced than it ever was before.

It is significant in this campaign that the Republicans and not the Laborites are to have the saloon vote. This extremely valuable asset upon which Schmitz counted so much has fallen to Ryan and not to McCarthy. The wholesale liquor dealers have sent out the tip and the saloon keepers have taken it. The Ryan banners are already floating from a score of saloon doors.

Stanley Moore read long portions of the evidence relating to the alleged conspiracy before June 11.

"Non, with reference to slipping anything in," said Moore, referring to charges made by Heney.

Heney broke in with:

"Mr. Moore, I did not intend to intimate anything against you. I wish to apologize for what I have said."

"Well, I wish to make myself clear in my poor, humble, imperfect way, and that was all I was striving for," replied Moore.

"You always make yourself clear. Mr. Moore," replied Heney in a soft tone.

"Thank you," repeated the young Moore.

NO CONNECTION SHOWN, DECLARES THE DEFENSE.

Continuing, he pointed out that there had been no connection shown between the defendant and the alleged conspiracy. O'Gara, for the prosecution, said that this was not a conspiracy to get through an ordinance, but a conspiracy to get through an ordinance in a certain way. The conspiracy would not end with the passage of the ordinance, but when the last supervisor received his money.

"Mr. Stanley Moore has come over to our side and admitted that it would be argued," continued O'Gara.

"I said that it might be argued," said Stanley Moore.

"Yes, and you said it as a lawyer and as a good lawyer," said O'Gara.

"And I say it judiciously because you have done well here."

"I am overpowered," said Stanley Moore.

"I repeat it," said O'Gara, referring to Moore Jr., "that you have shown yourself to be a man of intelligence and ability."

At the close of O'Gara's remarks Byington sarcastically inquired:

"Who represents the defense?" asked Heney, "because you seem to differ on the subject."

Heney then proceeded to amplify the idea that there were two kinds of conspiracies such as had been referred to by Mr. O'Gara. The court then said that the only point on which he was in doubt was as to section 166, which covered the offering of a bribe.

JUDGE LAWLER WITHHOLDS DECISION.

There was a short exchange of views on both sides and reading of testimony from the transcript.

Heney stated that he was so full of his idea that he had been questioning as to the fact of the offer of money that it was simply indifference on his part when he asked what was said between Gallagher and Lonergan. He admitted that Stanley Moore had the right under the circumstances to assume that the question relating to what was said was intended to bring out other matters than what the prosecution attempted to show, viz: the fact of the offer of money.

The court said that the ordinance had been passed on June 11, 1906, and the evidence tending to show what had been done with the money was admissible.

After some further discussion, Judge Lawrence stated he would withhold his decision for the present, and court adjourned until 2 o'clock.

STANDARD OIL IN POLITICS

Lively Meeting of New York Democratic Committee Promised.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The next meeting of the Democratic State committee is likely to be a memorable one. Aside from the question of endorsing the candidates selected by the Republican State committee for the Court of Appeals, it is now definitely known that a resolution will be introduced in support of the candidacy of Lieutenant-Governor Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. The demand for Governor Chanler's nomination originally came from the South, many influential Democrats there having formed the opinion that Governor Chanler having once carried New York State in the face of terrific odds would be the most available man to make the next national fight, for the reason that all politicians concede that unless the Democrats carry the Empire State they have absolutely no hope of success in the nation at large.

HANDY MEN AT WORK.

At first it was supposed that there would be no opposition to a resolution of this kind. It now transpires that for the last week the Standard Oil interests, as represented by Senator Patrick H. McCarran of Brooklyn, William F. Sheehan, the financial head of the Parker, Sheehan & Hatch law firm, Anthony Brady, the largest owner of Chicago gas, one of the subsidiary lines of the Standard Oil with his hands made by Roger Sullivan of Chicago, have held several conferences with the purpose of side-tracking this resolution. The unqualified approval which Governor Chanler has given to the course of President Roosevelt in his effort to exterminate the oil trust has caused Senator McCarran and other Standard Oil influences, as represented in the Democratic State Committee, more or less uneasiness. It is generally understood that the Standard Oil Company and its allied interests were the chief backers of the Parker campaign. Not since the golden age of 1892 did the Democratic campaign managers have such a fund at their disposal as they did in 1904.

WELCOME OPPOSITION.

Evidently the prospect of not having this rich field of commercial politics to exploit has alarmed these gentlemen of the State committee whose business is politics and whose politics is business. They are not at all pleased with the idea of putting forward a candidate who is already known to be antagonistic to the oil trust. The supporters of Governor Chanler say that they welcome the opposition of Senator McCarran and they invite a showing of hands now, because they intend to demonstrate in the next campaign that the Democratic candidate is something more than a cloak for a band of political conspirators such as enveloped and bore down to defeat, Parker. The program of these gentlemen, so far as it has been outlined at their recent conferences, is to vote down the endorsement of Chanler. Later it will be announced that Judge Parker should be given another chance to demonstrate his political strength. They are not at all sanguine that they can do much to utilize the Parker political corpse. His distinction of having been the worst beaten candidate that the party ever nominated, with the possible exception of Horace Greeley, is somewhat of a handicap.

RYAN FACTIONS MAY DIVIDE

Predicted That This Evening Will Witness Minority Breaking Away.

(From the S. F. Chronicle, Oct. 3)
Tonight will probably witness an open division between the Ryan and anti-Ryan factions in the Republican convention when that body meets in Walton's pavilion. The minority will not walk out of its own motion; neither will it leave the convention in a body unless forced to do so. But the action which it contemplates may result in a convention with from fifty to seventy vacant chairs. The committee appointed by John Ralph Wilson, chairman of the minority caucus, met on Tuesday and drafted a statement setting forth the anti-Ryan position, and this will be read at the convention tonight.

MINORITY UNWILLING.

In this statement the position is frankly taken that the minority will not be able to support the ticket placed in the field by the Republican convention. It is asserted that Ryan made a pledge to six of the delegates that he would not run for mayor if by doing so the party would be disrupted. It is contended that Ryan has broken his word.

The minority statement is carefully worded, but it is unequivocal in its terms. It concludes by stating that the reasons why Dr. Taylor appeals to the signers as the proper candidate for mayor of San Francisco at present.

CLAIMS PARTNER USES JOINT FUND FOR SELF

M. Brandt and Chris Solomonson, who some months ago, formed a partnership to engage in the contracting business, are at loggerheads over the receipt and disbursement of funds. Solomonson yesterday filed suit against Brandt, claiming that the latter has appropriated more than $600 of the firm's money to his own use, meanwhile refusing to liquidate any part of their joint indebtedness. Solomonson further alleges that Brandt continues to use the firm name, despite a notice of dissolution of partnership filed against him May 11th of this year. He asks that a receiver be appointed and a proper audit made of the assets and liabilities of the firm. He also desires that Brandt be enjoined from using the tools and materials of the joint ownership until the case is decided. Solomonson and Brandt have in charge the construction of several large buildings, among which is the Lincoln school building which is well toward completion.

BIG DEMONSTRATION PLANNED

One of the most important events in the history of Oakland real estate is the opening to the public of a magnificent new subdivision, consisting of 187 acres, known as Toler Heights and located on the new Foothill Boulevard. This property is a portion of the old Toler estate. It is high and slightly, affording an unsurpassed view of the bay district. In fact, a perfect panorama is unfolded to the vision from most any position of the Heights—on clear days, San Francisco, the Golden Gate and even the ocean beyond being easily distinguishable.

Active work is now underway. For several days a force of surveyors having been on the ground doing the preparatory work and at present grading for streets is under way and water mains are being laid. The opening day, for which great preparations are being made, is to be October 6. Free transportation; music by Casassa's band, refreshments and automobile service from the street car line to the grounds are to be the features and undoubtedly thousands will avail themselves of this opportunity to go out and inspect the new subdivision. Judging from the interest shown already by the public, many lots daily being sold, the feature of selling these lots on the "no interest and no tax" plan during the period of paying for them, is proving very popular. The lots range in size from 51 foot front, with various depths, to acreage and are selling from $400 up.

Within a very short time excellent car service right into the tract will be afforded the public, an application having been made on September 30 for a franchise to construct an electric car line from the junction of Grand avenue and Derby street in Elmhurst to Toler Heights. This service will be frequent, cars running every twenty minutes, with fare of four cents to Oakland, and free transfers to any point in the city and Berkeley.

Only Three More Days Before the Opening Sunday, October Sixth TOLER HEIGHTS

TOLER HEIGHTS is located just east of Oakland on the splendid Foothill Boulevard. The property is high and sightly. The lots are large, ranging from 50x125 to a full acre.

This property is now being completely improved. Streets are being graded, water piped to every lot and every possible modern convenience will serve to aid Nature's beauty.

This property is easy of access, being only twenty-four minutes from Oakland by the Oak and Traction Company. Fare 4c on commutation tickets, including free transfers to all parts of Oakland and Berkeley. Only 9c to San Francisco.

The extension of the street car line is to run through the center of this tract. Nowhere else can you buy such fine property with such cheap transportation at our low prices and easy terms.

Gallagher replied that he had not and that Ruef had said that there would be some money in the bank for each supervisor. Still later Gallagher reported to Ruef and told him he had spoken to a number of the supervisors and that he was sure that $500 would be satisfactory to the supervisors.

On Saturday, came up on May 14 in the board of supervisors and all the members present voted for the matter. Gallagher had had the money and he would receive $500 for the vote, but some time later the amount was reduced to $100. Gallagher then declared that if that was the best that could be done it would be satisfactory to him.

Over the unsightly and dangerous over-head trolley.

In London the auto buses of the London General Omnibus Company, in the year 1905, carried over one hundred and fifty thousand passengers a day, one thousand three hundred and ninety-seven buses daily use. The amount carried was four million passengers more than is carried by the underground railway. It shows that the present plan of the Western Rapid Transit Company, San Francisco, are destined to carry the bulk of San Francisco's public.

THE NATIONAL CALIFORNIA CLUB.

An interesting account has been received of the way in which the National California Club of New York celebrated Admission Day. Although three thousand miles away from their native State, the Californians felt no lack of enthusiasm and the day was fittingly observed.

Mrs. Henry C. Appleton, a member of the club, opened her home at City Island, and the day was given up to outdoor pleasures for those who chose to be out of doors and to games of whist and bridge for those who preferred to remain within the house. The house was decorated with gold and red blossoms, the California poppy being given special prominence.

Mrs. Thomas J. Vivian is president of the club; other well-known members are: Mrs. Laura Ingels, Mrs. C. B. Mitchell, Dr. E. M. Hinkle, Mrs. A. Palmer Dudley, Mrs. F. C. Garlick, Mrs. Jackson T. Both sessions are open to the public, and in addition to the regular sessions there is to be a special program for Friday evening. The Rev. William Day Simonds, pastor of the Unitarian Church, is to speak, and there will be music by the U. C. brass band.

On Saturday the feature of the day will be a debate by students of the University. "Resolved: That women should have the same political liberty that men now enjoy." Music will be by the U. C. band on both days.

GOING TO EUROPE.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Milton and their daughter, Miss Laura, are to leave for Europe on the 15th. They plan to be away about a year in all, traveling about the continent. The doctor will visit all of the famous hospitals of the Old World, and will probably be able to give some time to special study.

The party will return by way of the Orient.

A number of pleasant complimentary affairs are being given for the tourists, who have a wide circle of friends in and about Oakland.

FROM THE ISLANDS.

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Molony of Lahaina, H. I., are passengers on the Oriental liner Sierra, due this week. Their little son Desmond is with them.

Mrs. Molony was formerly Miss Green and is a sister of Mrs. Zoe Green Radcliffe and Mrs. Garrett McEnery.

AT CLAREMONT.

Mrs. Sylvanus Farnham is to entertain very shortly at the Country Club in honor of her sister, Miss Edith Chigford. A dinner was planned for this week, but a pressure of other social claims made a postponement advisable. The dinner will be given later, with some additional guests, friends of Mrs. Farnham who are coming from the East.

Mrs. Farnham and her sister are to be luncheon guests at the club today with Miss Grace Hammond of San Francisco.

MAKE THIS UP AT YOUR HOME

Prepare This Mixture at Home By Shaking Ingredients Well in a Bottle.

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a prominent health journal, giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder derangement in the following simple prescription. If taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known local druggist, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic affections with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache. It has a peculiar action upon the entire kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter, which cause sickness and suffering. Those who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

RUBBISH PILE AFIRE THREATENS GAS TANKS

The large gas tanks of the Oakland Gas Light and Heat Company at Castro and First streets were threatened by fire at 11 o'clock last night. A rubbish pile of old furniture and other debris, which had been piled up for some time, caught fire and threatened the gas tanks. The fire department was called and the rubbish pile was quickly extinguished. The gas tanks were not damaged.

CAR KILLS HORSE; DRIVER NOT INJURED

E. S. Bowlish, an employee of the Union Electric Company of Fruitvale, was struck by a Hayward electric car while driving across the tracks. The car was driven by a man who was not seen by the driver. The horse was killed and the driver was not injured. The car was damaged.

FOREMAN IS CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

The complaint against John O'Brien, foreman of the Berkeley Rock Company, has been amended from petit larceny to embezzlement.

The charge was preferred by Joseph Rosenberg, manager of the rock company. He alleges that O'Brien obtained eighty sacks of cement belonging to the firm and disposed of them at fifty cents each.

COOKING WITH ELECTRICITY

Electric Sideboard is Latest and Successful Appliance in American Households.

The electric sideboard is now making its entrance into the household and serving a convenience superior to the gas stove, as the latter is over the coal stove. There is no perceptible heat radiated from the electric sideboard. The idea of cooking has been revolutionized. Instead of heating up a mass of iron and placing the cooking utensil thereon to be heated, the heating part in electric is placed in each utensil. The result is there is no waste heat. The heat is concentrated upon the article being cooked.

The utensils are nickel-plated and tend to make a kitchen or dining-room attractive. There is no smoke nor soot to tarnish the utensils.

There is no delay. Turn a switch and the heat is there to do work. In fact, the utensils may be put directly on the table, having had connection with the sideboard and the different dishes served directly from the utensils.

ANOTHER ADVANTAGE.

Another advantage is that the utensils are made of aluminum, or aluminum, and do not require grease for cooking. Broiled oysters and other difficult forms of food can be cooked and served by the unexperienced with electricity, equal to the dishes served by French chefs.

It is said there is nothing equal to a cup of percolated coffee. This railway, which is the latest in the line of electric cooking, is a great improvement on the old method of boiling, wherein the true flavor of coffee is lost.

The electric oven is an interesting feature, as it is difficult to trace the source of heat. Close inspection will show two little cylinders at the top and the bottom of the oven. These generate the heat.

In household cooking it is always difficult to have the right degree of heat. This may be better accomplished by gas, as the flames of the latter can be adjusted by valves. With electric apparatus the exact heat can be obtained with various degrees of heat, and the temperature is gauged for various heats. Cooking is becoming a chemical science. A successful cook must know the proportions of the different ingredients must be exact; that the mixing and stirring likewise must be done in an accurate manner. Then comes the next important consideration, the right amount of heat to be applied to the food. It is just as important for the cook to be accurate as for the druggist to be correct in filling the bottle.

QUITE ORNAMENTAL.

The simplicity and ornamental effect of the sideboard is attractive. It becomes a piece of furniture and can be placed in the kitchen or dining-room, and the effect of either the kitchen or dining-room.

The lower portion is equipped with drawers, the upper part with a board and shelf. This board is what might be termed a "hot plate," and it is covered with a series of sockets, into which are plugged cords for the electric connection to the different utensils. Above each socket is a snap switch, by means of which the knob can be turned to the different degrees of heat desired.

The simplicity combined itself, as there is no more knowledge of electricity or its operation required than in turning on or off an ordinary electric lamp. It is only a question of a short time that the electric sideboard will replace other modes of cooking. The demand for comfort and convenience in the kitchen is increasing, and the electric sideboard is the answer to the problem.

The cost of operation, like all new appliances, is a question of time. It is only a matter of development when the efficiency of all the appliances will be increased, and the cost of operation will be reduced. However, there are a good many of individual utensils that are now in use.

The demand for these appliances is increasing, and it is only a matter of time when the electric sideboard will be a household necessity. It is only a matter of time when the electric sideboard will be a household necessity. It is only a matter of time when the electric sideboard will be a household necessity.

JACK GLEASON SIGNS THOMAS AND KETCHEL

Coifroth on Hunt for Owen Moran—Jim Flynn Wants a Chance at Johnson—North Says Gans Tried for Knockout.

By EDDIE SMITH.

Jack Gleason has bounded back into the ring after a rest from his last bout with Young Ketchel and has been quietly working on the signing of Joe Thomas and Young Ketchel and has succeeded in landing them for Thanksgiving Day.

The articles of agreement are as yet in rather crude shape and it will require some time to get the men finally settled, but as the weight proposition has been definitely settled, at 155 pounds four hours before the fight, the rest should cause no arguments that would cause the men to split.

Gleason, in securing this contest, has one of the very best cards he could possibly get. The men have met twice before and each time they have put up a contest that is termed by the fight fans "the best I ever saw."

Jimmy Coffroth, the wise man of the pugilistic game in San Francisco, is looking for a big fight for a club as to the whereabouts of Owen Moran. The original "Swallow" Gluck is not looking for the young man of British extraction because he has committed murder and because he has been in the cause of the slum's great activity being the desire to have the Englishman sign articles that will show he is willing to fight the human but-as, Frankie Nell.

Coffroth has decided to give the patrons of the division street arena a chance to witness a little fellow in the ring and for this reason has been after the best man that he could sign. Nell has fought for Coffroth before and is anxious for a match so the only thing that remains unsettled is the securing of the services of the Britisher.

Moran is the lad who beat Ben Bowker the English fighter, who received a decision over the American in London some few years ago.

Nell, in England, was not allowed to fight with one and free in the clinches, and as this is his strong suit he was severely handicapped by the referee calling for the ringside every time that Frankie got a chance at the clever Britisher in the clinches. "Break it away Mr. Nell," said the referee, "the man behind him as to stop him from fighting in close.

Moran, if he ever shows up, will make a good fight with Nell, as he has been thoroughly tried out in America and has been found wanting.

Mike (Twins) Sullivan, the lighter of the fighting boys, is sadly disappointed at not getting a chance at the fighting Montana mine, Young Ketchel. "I came all the way from Boston to get that match, and now I get nothing but the shake," said the clever twin yesterday.

Roy Hunt is badly injured. In the first round of the fight between the Vander Nallens and Roy Hunt, the latter was badly injured.

HER PLEA IS INSANITY

All other talesmen consider women and men as equal in the eyes of the law. The first proceedings of the trial brought out the idea that court and jurors are supposed to consider the defendant innocent of the crime charged against her until she shall be proven guilty. This is considered to be a presumption which the law gives each defendant.

Louis Siegrist was taken in hand by Attorney Hynes: "Do you entertain any religious belief or conscientious scruples which would prevent your bringing in a verdict of guilty, where such a verdict might carry with it a sentence of death on the defendant?"

"No, sir." "Would the fact that she is a woman make necessary any greater proof than you would believe necessary were the prisoner a man?" "No, sir, not a bit."

"Assuming that evidence of insanity were introduced in this case, and assuming it was not sufficient to prove innocence, would you be influenced by those facts to the interference with a verdict of first degree murder?"

"No, sir." "The juror was passed to the defense. Attorney Hynes, by asking Siegrist if he was connected with Attorney Hynes in business, "except to ride him around on the cars when I was a motorman."

"Did you read the story of this act in the papers?" "Yes, sir." "What paper did you read?" "THE TRIBUNE, I think."

"THE TRIBUNE had a very full account of the affair, did it not?" "Yes, sir." "Did you read the story of this act in the papers?" "Yes, sir."

"Did you hear of the relations between Glover and the defense?" "Yes, sir." "Did you hear that he borrowed $2500 from her and refused to give her enough to live on?" "No, sir."

"Do you think, Mr. Siegrist, that any certain course of conduct pursued by one person against another, might in time render the other temporarily insane?" "It may; yes, it might."

"If all the circumstances which may be presented to you in this case be such as to prove that the defendant was, at the time of this alleged homicide of which she is charged, was incompetent, would you render a verdict of not guilty?" "I would."

"Evidence may be introduced, Mr. Siegrist, to prove that this defendant was, at an early age, rendered incompetent by the death of her mother and the commitment of her father to an asylum for the insane in the State of Oregon. Also that she has attempted stranger deeds than this. If this were proven, would the circumstances of the case prevent you from rendering a verdict of 'not guilty'?" "No, sir."

"Do you believe a man or woman is ever justified in taking human life?" "No, sir; except in case of self-defense."

The witness was excused temporarily. Mr. Callaghan was next called to the stand. He stated, in answer to a question that a man or woman are both alike in the eyes of the law.

GREAT PROFITS NOW KNOWN

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—For the first time there has been made public the income account and balance sheet of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, which is the parent of all the Standard Oil companies of the world. The report shows that the wealth of the company has at no time been over-estimated.

WHAT IS SHOWN. The income account shows that while the company paid $40,000,000 in dividends during the year ending December 31 last, it carried more than $83,000,000 and left a surplus for the year of something more than $43,000,000.

PROFITS ARE IMMENSE. Added to the previous surplus, the total surplus in profit and loss accounts amounts to $261,000,000, or more than nine times the amount of the great dividend. The balance sheet of the company shows assets of $271,661,632, as compared with a capitalization of $100,000,000.

WANT 3-CENT FARE IF WITHOUT MILEAGE. TOPEKA, Kans., Oct. 3.—Representatives of the leading railroads in Kansas appeared before the State board of railway commissioners here today and asked permission to charge 3 cents a mile on passenger fares after October 5, when the passenger boarding a train has no mileage book. In other words, they want all passengers to have mileage books if they would take advantage of the 3-cent rate.

The board took the matter under consideration. Jurors as questions by the district attorney. "There are some very fine" of front when lawyers leave the district attorney's office," retorted Hynes.

"The object of my question," said the district attorney, "is to get the fact that Mr. Glover was not married to this woman but had lived with her for five years, in your mind excuse a series of beatings inflicted by the deceased which might have caused temporary insanity?" "No, sir."

"Do you think a man ever has a right to beat a woman?" "CAN STRIKE SOMETIMES." "Well—sometimes," answered Callaghan, to the amusement of the court.

"Have you had experience in hereditary insanity?" "No, except that a lot of us are light-headed, anyhow."

Here Judge Allen made a low remark to Prosecutor Hynes which later rebuked. "Your honor," he said, "Judge Allen seems to be attempting to provoke me by personalities, against which I must request the protection of the court. This is not a joking contest nor a place for personal selections."

"You started it," said Allen. "I did not," snapped the younger man. "Gentlemen, this has gone far enough," said Judge Ellsworth. "You will immediately cease this bickering."

"The remarks of Mr. Allen and Mr. Hynes were both personal, irrelevant and ill-timed," said the judge, "you confine yourself to the case itself."

"I was standing on the corner of 12th and Washington streets, when a man came up to me and called me to one side and asked me where he could buy a good dining room set and a Davenport Couch. Well, I just got busy with that man just—so I took him down to the OAKLAND FURNITURE CO., 532 12th STREET, and they sold him a nice bill of furniture; and, say, do you know they have a big clearance sale on that really saves you big money on a furniture purchase? Well, they have, and 'Ben the Booster' will keep you posted on all the low prices."

ATTORNEYS' WAR. "I object," shouted District Attorney Hynes, "on the ground that this is an improper question."

"But that is not the correct form of objection," said Judge Ellsworth. "What do you object to?" said Walsh, glaring at the prosecutor. "I claim that the question states a conclusion."

Hughes After New Yearlings

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 28.—Grover Hughes still lies on the lookout for yearlings, and will buy fully a dozen before he quits dealing in the youngsters. He wants to get a good two-year-old or so next season to go east with Elway, and he thinks he can land on two or three good winners in the twelve yearlings he has picked out to buy. He already has six of the number, and he and O. H. Chesnut are now in a deal involving several youngsters. The Chesnut yearlings, Grover likes the best are a colt by Imp Hermeneu and a colt and filly by Russell. They are likely to be in the stable of Hughes Bros. before the present race meeting is over, as the price the young trainer has offered for them is not far off from the figures the owners of Spendthrift wants for them.

Weeks and Attell May Meet in Ring

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Freddie Weeks, the hard hitting Colorado scrapper, and Abe Attell have been offered an opportunity to fight before the Pacific Athletic Club the latter part of this month.

Attell has already accepted the terms of the club, and as the same inducements have been held out to Weeks it is expected that he will accept.

Crack Hounds Will Compete

A crack field of greyhounds are entered for the coursing at Ingleside Park next Sunday. The Eclipse stakes will be the feature. Some of the best dogs on the coast are entered in this event. There will also be an open stake.

How Jerry Murphy Bet on Maximilian

Jerry Murphy must have a bet on every race or have a fuss. "I bet you a $100 on Knight of the way," he said to Bookmaker Snell, at the track on Sunday. "No matter what the odds are at 10 to 1."

"No, you won't," said the man of many balls. "Well, put it on Maximilian then," said Murphy. "All right, $500 to $100 on Maximilian."

And Murphy's perseverance won him $500, for Maximilian came home by ten lengths and Knight of the way fell at the paddock jump the first time around.

OWN YOUR OWN TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM

The Western Rapid Transit Company was organized for the purpose of installing an independent Auto Bus System, on a 5c fare; traversing the principal streets of San Francisco. It will operate along the same lines as those systems now in profitable operation in London, Paris, Berlin, New York, Philadelphia and many other large cities. These places have tested the practicability of the Auto Bus and have demonstrated that they can be operated with profit in competition with surface cars, elevated or subway roads.

It Means
Dollars to the Public

San Francisco
Needs Better
Transportation Facilities

Is the Company's Plan Indorsed ?

Yes, by many prominent San Francisco business men, as well as the public in general, who are supporting this movement

Will It Stand Investigation ?

Yes, the most thorough searching, crucial investigation, the more carefully it is investigated the better we will be pleased. WE INVITE investigation. WE URGE INVESTIGATION.

Can We Prove What We Say ?

Yes, fully; by facts and figures and comparison with dozens of companies now operating with great success in different parts of the country.

Has It a Bright Future ?

Yes; it will have a wonderful and brilliant future, and will be heartily supported by the public.

Is It a Safe Investment ?

Yes, absolutely so, and a very conservative investment, too.

Is It Profitable ?

Yes, immensely so; it has been demonstrated in all Europe, that Motor Buses have paid immense profits and far larger profits should accrue from a company operating in San Francisco, as it is badly in need of increased transportation facilities. The London General Omnibus Company, of London, England, for the year ending December, 1906, carried a total of one hundred and eight million three hundred and eighty-six thousand, eight hundred and five (108,386,805) passengers. Does this look as though the Motor Bus was a success?

Are Successful and Capable Men Managing the Company ?

Yes; men whose success and reputation will stand the most minute investigating; successful men are always safe to follow.

When Will the Buses be in Operation ?

Some time this month. The firm of Mack Brothers of Allentown, Pennsylvania, are constructing these palace buses and are rushing our order post haste. The first shipment is due to leave Allentown, Pa., on or before October 8th. They represent the newest ideas in Motor Bus construction; are handsome in appearance, ample in carrying capacity, easy in motion and economical in operation.

Stock Now $2.50 per Share

The stock is selling rapidly and will not remain long at this price. We advise you to look into this proposition TODAY, NOW, BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.
